1. In a time of war and terror ev'rywhere on earth
People are scared, afraid of tomorrow
You feel like losing your last nerve but at once you can forget
All your sorrow on those very special days

Chorus: Because in Euroweek the world is coming together
Open minds change it for the better
We get another point of view from this
Learning to see through cliches and prejudice

2. If just ev'ryone could stop, being so narrow-minded
And see what Euroweek makes us see
Not only Europe but the world could be united Imagine how great that would be

Because in Euroweek the world is coming together
Open minds change it for the better
We get another point of view from this
Learning to see through cliches and prejudice

Bridge: Things are not always bad or good
They are sometimes just different, my friend
That is, is what needs, is what needs to be understood

Because in Euroweek the world is coming together
Open minds change it for the better
We get another point of view from this
Learning to see through cliches and prejudice – because in euroweek.
